

A long-exposure photograph of a rocky coastline. The water is blurred into a soft, milky white, suggesting a long shutter speed. Several dark, jagged rocks are scattered in the foreground and middle ground. In the background, a city skyline is visible under a blue sky with light clouds. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

Niemand ist so taub wie der,
der nicht zuhören kann.